A discount at the highest level

- The +27.9% NAV increase during H1-2021 was not fully reflected in the share price performance
- Peugeot Invest is much more diversified than it used to be with Peugeot 1810 accounting for 45% of assets (vs 75% in 2007)

Peugeot Invest's high discount is not justified

Tax on capital gains not included in the NAV ?

- Tax on capital gain limited to 4% as Peugeot Invest benefits of the long-term holding regime (influence on business)
- Tax on dividend limited to 1.4% as Peugeot Invest benefits of the participation exemption regime

Structure cost ?

- Cost limited to 0.6% of Gross Asset Value

Asset concentration ?

- Stellantis as the largest asset accounts for 42% of the Gross Asset Value (comparable to other listed investment company with lower discount)

Correlation of the assets ?

- Assets are well diversified in term of business cycle and geography

Risks of the assets on the balance sheet ?

- Largest asset is Peugeot 1810 mainly composed of Stellantis, which has €11.5bn net cash at 30 June 2021 on its B/S, and greater geographical diversification
- High performance and resilience of investments
- Limited use of leverage (LTV of 16%) and good liquidity (see slide 43)

Liquidity ?

- Free float of 20%
- Average daily volume of c. € 1m, higher than other investment companies with lower discounts

RECENT EVENTS

FFP became Peugeot Invest in April 2021

Peugeot
INVEST

Anchored in Peugeot's history and DNA

Expressing our investment expertise

- In H1 2021, FFP was renamed Peugeot Invest, following the approval of its shareholders on March 31, 2020.
- This name change better reflects the link between the Peugeot family history and the company's investment activity, and particularly its industrial, family, responsible and long-term DNA.
- Also, with this clear and descriptive name, the listed investment company reinforces the legitimacy acquired by Peugeot Invest with its various holdings over many years.

PSA-FCA merger into Stellantis & spin-off of Faurecia

Building a leader in sustainable mobility and enabling Faurecia's future growth

Compelling industrial and strategic rationale

- One of the largest OEM worldwide with pro-forma revenues >€130bn
- Balanced geographical footprint with industry leading margins in Europe and North America
- Broad and complementary brand portfolio with solid market presence across all segments (luxury, premium, mainstream, etc.)
- Combination of both groups best-in class technologies regarding electrification and autonomous vehicle laying the ground for enhanced innovation and development capabilities

Strong financial logic

- >€5bn of annual run-rate synergies
- Synergies to be cash-flow positive from year 1
- Solid combined balance sheet with ~€18bn net cash

Balanced governance and strong management team

- 50/50 merger
- 11 members board of directors:
  - 5 from PSA (o.w. R. Peugeot as Vice-Chairman), 5 from FCA and C. Tavares
  - John Elkann as Chairman
  - Senior Independent Director from PSA: Henri de Castries
